PROJECTS

Simulation of a Green Gym

AUGUST 2019 - DECEMBER 2019

- A green gym is a model gym which does not require any energy input. Instead, it produces electricity from the work done by the gymers that can be stored and used later or added to the grid.
- The idea is to use piezoelectric material to generate electricity from mechanical work done on them.
- I worked on a code to simulate such a gym with any number of equipment (as required) in a user defined floor space as per commercial standards.
